

Name: Erin Holstein

Role: Consultant

Education: Master's in Human Rights from the London School of Economics and a Bachelor's in Anthropology and Hispanic Studies from Connecticut College

Sectors: corporate social responsibility (CSR), healthcare, international development, human rights, immigration

Specialties: nonprofit management, partnerships, community engagement, program development, volunteer management, fundraising, and events

Professional Experience: Erin is an advisor to Grapevine, a philanthropy social enterprise. She previously served as a Social Impact Consultant to L+M Development Partners. Prior, she worked in various leadership positions in community engagement and development at the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network and Ubuntu Pathways, where she raised millions of dollars. Erin began her career in the immigration sector, supporting detained immigrant children in the US and Moroccan immigrant women in Spain.

Certifications: Business Strategies for Social Impact by UPenn (Wharton) on Coursera (2019) and Advanced High Proficiency in Spanish from the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (2009)

Awards and Recognitions: Fulbright Research Scholar Finalist (2010)

Personal Interests: travel (traveled to over 40 countries), volunteering, the outdoors (hiking, camping, skiing), tennis, cooking, live music, speaking Spanish

Passion for Social Impact: Erin is passionate about innovative and strategic approaches to social impact in various sectors, from CSR to immigration to women and children's rights to diversity, equity, and inclusion. She is committed to making a difference in our society.